

ILLUMINATED ATHEIST
SUBMISSION FORM
ILLUMINATEDATHEIST.COM

Introduction

First of all, thank-you for taking an interest in this project. I want to say first and foremost, the goal of this site is not to ridicule religion, but rather to bring the world of Atheism a much needed sense of visual and literary levity. We believe that all forms of non-theist thought are important and that these ideas are truly needed in this world, and we humbly ask that those with opinions on such matters would help us in crafting an intelligent, considerate and lively site.

We need your help in advancing these ideas and this site forward. The stories submitted will be treated with the utmost respect and not be published until this site and the author have agreed to terms. Anything submitted to Illuminated Atheist will be considered for use on illuminatedatheist.com alone, and any further usage will be negotiated with the author of it.

Stories and Thoughts

You do not need to be a writer to submit, or have any experience at all. All you need to do is draw from your personal experience. You also do not need to be Atheist, all non-theist thought is encouraged, however if it just so happens that you are an Atheist and a writer we'd really really love to hear from you. The story may be in point form and we will work with you to craft the final version. We ask to keep the stories around 1000 words at most. The shorter the better really. We want a message in each, but we want to keep it loose and fun.

Illuminated Atheist is committed to exploring non-theist thought and would love to hear what you have to say.
